SIMCOE'S MILITARY JOURNAL .- A History of of the Oper ations of a Partisan Corps, called the Queen's Rangers, commanded by Lieut. Col. J. G. Simcoe, during the War of the American Revolution; illustrated by Ten engraved Plans of Actions, &c. Now first published. With a Memoir of the Author, and other Additions.

New-York, Bartlett & Welford. To the readers who explore with interest the particular history of our Revolutionary War, this publication will prove most acceptable. Simcoe's Journal is entirely a new thing, the auther having privately printed it in 1787, and jeal. ously confined its circulation among a few of his personal friends in England. The book possesses decided interest, as opening a new vein in the mine of American history. The soldier-author inherited, it seems, his military genius, his generous qualities of heart, and a handsome worldly estate from an excellent father, who served and died upon the great expedition against Quebec, under Wolfe.

In 1781 the Queen's Rangers under Simcoe, along with Col. Dundas and his regiment, were ordered, as part of the command of Arnold, (then become a British Brigadier) to sail for Virginia .-Through much action upon the rivers and roads, ing-works of inestimable value never printed, and in combats to the right and left with the militia and the regulars, and onward to the junction with Although the number of volumes is no greater the army of Cornwallis from Carolina, we are carried up to the siege and surrender at Yorktown, where the rangers fell with the British garrison before the French and American allies. The corps also saw some service in South Carolina, of which the Commander gives the history. The Colonel was no admirer of the rebels, yet his Journal is written in a clear, straightforward manner, stating facts with great apparent sincerity and correctness. The bitterness of feeling he now and then exhibits belong to the times: and is to be expected. This is of no consequence; and we welcome this work as throwing additional light upon the most interesting portion of our national history.

He procured an Ensign's commission at the age of nineteen, and landed at Boston, on the way to join his Regiment, on the day of the Battle of Bunker Hill. Subsequently he was wounded at Brandywine, being then a Captain of Grenadiers; and shortly afterward was appointed Commander of the Queen's Rangers, and made a Provincial Lieutenant-Colonel. The Journal commences at the close of the year 1777, in the neighborhood of Philadelphia. The environs of the city were patrolled and guarded by the Corps, and many stirring incidents occurred in the course of its duties which are well told in the book. The Rangers were active in the retreat of the British Army from Philadelphia to New-York, and performed an important part in flanking, covering, foraging, &c., during the march. The subsequent fields of Simcoe's movements were-Ali Westchester County above New-York; Long Island, in various parts; Staten Island; and New-Jersey, at different times. In all these quarters rencontres happened and exploits were executed which are well told and of exciting interest, especially to those who know well the localities.

KOHL'S TRAVELS IN IRELAND .- The bogs and fairies of Ireland, the "banks of Killarney," the "sweet vale of Avoca," "the "Apostle of Temperance," the "Agitator"-these, and almost every thing else in Ireland worth seeing and thinking about, are described very pleasantly in a new work of travels in Ireland, just published by the Harpers .-It is from the pen of J. G. Kohl, a German tourist; and as the price is but one shilling, it will undoubtedly commend itself universally to the seekers after information or amusement.

Frauds on the Public.

To the Editor of The Tribune: The public mind has of late been attracted to the numberless frauds, practised upon the trading public. The various modes of buying goods under false pretences have been discussed, and the malpractices of the auctioneers have frequently irritated the public mind. There is another branch of fraud, however, to which I would call attention. It is falsifying the character of articles offered for sale. The evil is general and has assumed a serious character. In illustration of what I refer to, I will mention the articles manufactured from the precious metals, particularly gold. This description of articles, by the process of galvanizing, and plating has of late become so much adulterated as to contain scarcely 100th part of the gold formerly wrought up into them. This practice has been fallen into in consequence of the disuse of the wholesome custom of requiring from the seller a warrant that his article is of solid gold or silver. The great confidence reposed by the public in the standing of dealers and the desire to buy cheap, have led to the gradual reduction of the quantity of metals contained in some articles until instead of being solid as formerly, they retain the same form and fashion although the material is copper with at her appearance in the drawing-room with a beauful pencil case suspended from her graceful neck by a brilliant chain, both the gift of her devoted gallant, whose horror was extreme when they were discovered to be copper so thinly veiled in gold as scarcely to conceal the baser metal.

So general has this practice become that probably 7.8ths of all the ornaments worn in the City are of copper, although paid for as gold. Time was when the laws took cognizance of such the purchaser can combine elegance, durability and cheapness, transactions, but "extremes meet," and as we progress in civilization our ladies are unwittingly going back to the copper ornaments of the aborigines, although their male friends at "Christmas tide" may think that they are buying gold for souvenirs.

RED RIVER .- The Southern Transcript, at Alexandria, of the 7th inst. says: "Red River is now within a few feet of the top of its banks, and fears have been entertained of its overflow. We do not recollect ever to have experienced so disagreeable weather as has prevailed here for some weeks past. The rains have been heavy and of long duration."

Passengers by the Republic arrived on Saturday evening report that the country appears in a dreadful condition, a great quantity of land being overflowed, and very serious damage having been done to the crops by the late inclement weather and the high [N.O. Tropic, 18th. stage of water.

Loss of Cotton.—The N.O. Tropic of the 19th says: "On Wednesday evening last, as the train of cars from Clinton to Port Hudson were coming in, the sparks from the passing train communicated to the Cotton, and the whole load, amounting to 67 bales, together with the cars, were burned to ashes. The locomotive was also slightly injured."

Large Library for Sale.

United States Consulate AT GENOA, (Italy,) Oct. 15th, 1843-5 DEAR SIR-Since the object of this communication cannot fail to interest every patriot and friend of learning, I offer no apology for addressing you. Owing to reverse of fortune the present representative of the Durazzo family, one of the most ancient and illustrious of Genoa, and in- Booksellers. deed all Italy, has offered his celebrated Library for sale. As soon as I learned his intention I called on the proprietor and obtained his lowest terms, with the refusal of the Library for five months; with the view of writing in the mean time to the U. S. to see if Congress could not be prevailed upon to purchase it for the use of the Government. This Library has been in the process of collection for several hundred years, and always in possesion of the same family, who have at all times been distinguished friends of Learning. It has long been esteemed one of the choicest private Libraries in Europe. It contains over 10,000 volumes of the most valuable and beautiful editions of the most celebrated authors of the ancient and modern world, with several hundred very rare and valuable manuscripts in different languages, many of them older than the art of Printof which no other copies are known to exist .yet almost every celebrated author of every Language is found in it, since nearly the entire Library is made up of large folio and quarto editions which are very comprehensive. It is bound uniform in the most durable and beautiful style, and the whole is in a perfect state of preservation-not an imperfect copy or volume .-The Catalogue cannot be forwarded as only one exists (in seven manuscript volumes) and only a general idea can be given of its contents. Of the Great Departments of Learning the most extensive are History, Laws, Jurisprudence and Diplomacy. The Classical Department is also very full, containing all the Greek and Roman classics, in manuscripts by scholars of the 14th, 15th and 16th centuries. These are among the most valuable in Europe. I have spent several days expressly in the examination of the Library and obtained the opinions of some of the best Italian scholars, and they all concur with the Books of Bibliography in the opinion that it is one of the choicest and most valuable Private Libraries in Europe. The price is so low it can offer no obstacle, it being only thirty thousand dollarswhich is much less than the original cost of the Binding, and I am universally assured it is not one-tenth the original cost of the printed volumes, not to mention the MSS. The want of such a Library is felt by American Statesmen and Scholars, and it may safely be asserted that a more valuable treasure could not be possessed by the present or left by future generations. I then, dear sir, make this appeal to you in the name of Country and Education and for these two sacred objects I ask that you will, in every manner in your power, do all you can to have the matter brought before Congress early this Session, and a Bill passed that the time may not pass by and the five months expire without consummating the object. The Library can be had no less; it can be boxed, insured and sent to Washington in a perfect state for a reasonable sum, and I am wil-be bought for the American People. I have the honor to be, dear sir, your obedient servant, C. EDWARDS LESTER, U. S. Consul at Genoa.

The Invisible Wig so closely resembles the real head of hair that sceptices and connoisseurs have pronounced it the most perfect and extraordinary invention of the day. The great advantage of this novel and unique Wig is its being made without sewing or weaving, which causes its appearance so closely to resemble the natural hair, both in lightness and natural appearance, as to defy detection, its texture being so beautiful, so porous and so free, that in all cases of perspiration evaporation is unimpeded, and the great evils of other Wigs entirely avoided. The sceptic and connoiseur are alike invited to inspect this novel and beautiful Wig, and the peculiar method of fitting the head, at the manufacturer's, A C. Barry, 146 Broadway, corner of Liberty street, up stairs.

[From the True Sun of Nov. 25t's.] Spencer's Hats .- Mr. SPENCER, of 67 Cham pers-street, near Broadway, has shown us some of his Nutria Fur and Moleskin Silk Hats. His best, which ne sells at $4 most but a few cents' worth thinly scattered upon | 25, are fully equal, if not superior, both in quality and style, the surface. I have seen a female friend make to those sold elsewhere for $5. They are certainly a splenoid article. We examined some at $3 25 which are sufficiently handsome to satisfy those who are not in the practice or who cannot always afford to purchase a first quality article. But go and see them and select for yourselves; you will surely find one to your taste. We take pleasure in calling attention to his beautiful assortment. [From the Tribune of Dec. 2d]

We have been shown some of the Nutria Fur and Moleskin Silk Hats of Mr. Spencer, 67 Chambers-street, and can pronounce them a most excellent article. They are a fashionable Hat, elegantly made, and afforded at a moderate price. When as at Mr. Spencer's, he will be satisfied. We can recommend those who are about to purchase to Mr. Spencer's excellent assortment. N. B .- Gentlemen are informed that a large and ample supply of the Hats thus noticed, are now on the shelves prepared to meet the great demand usually occurring at this especial season of the year. 67 Chambers-street.

SEARS' NEW AND COMPLETE HIS-TORY OF THE HOLY BIBLE.

TORY OF THE HOLY BIBLE.

From the Southern Quarterly Review for October.

We hait the appearance of this work as an auspicious event in the history of Biblical Literature. It is an excellent work—excellent in style rich in material, elegant in exterior, and not only correct, but exceedingly fascinating in its contents. We have read it—almost every one must read it,—with a deep and kindling interest, equal to that inspired by high-wrought works of fiction. It is not intended solely for scholars—a select few—but for whole masses. It addresses itself to the great heart of humanity; and its touching records of past events,—events of the deepest importance,—find a thrilling response in the breasts of all classes of men, high and low, rich and poor, learned and illierate, young and old. We cannot praise it as we do works which we admire simply for their profound learning, and high literary excellence. Of these claims to an enduring popularity, it is not, however, destitute. The most fastidious taste of the most captious critic, can find nothing in its pages at which to cavil. We have been surprised to find, in so voluminous a work, such uniform purity, beauty, simplicity, and almost perfection of style, running throughout the whole, and imparting grace and attraction to every narrative. The highest recommendation of this noble work, however, remains to be mentioned,—its moral attractions,—its power to engage the affections of the heart, which are made to cling to the book as to a dear friend. The feelings with which we take it up, are a mixture off ove and reverence. If men are not made pious by reading a work of such pure and elevated tender cy, they are taught at least to respect Religion and Virtue, as illustrated in the lives of the Patriarchs, the Prophets, the Apostles, and the Divine Founder of the Christian Faith. They may see and feel the invariable and salutary coosequences which flow from a bedience to the Divine Laws, as exemptified in the history of individuals and Nations, through the lapse of many cent more real value, even in a literary point of view, than many whole Libraries, and a beautiful and exceedingly interesting work.

SEARS'S BIBLE BIOGRAPHY.

From the New-York Poughkeepsie Telegraph.

Among the multitude of Books, as various in their character, as in their external appearance, which constantly issue from the press, it is pleasant to point to one of real value, and know that we are calling public attention to a work not only unexceptionable in its letter and spirit, but salutary in its tendency and influence. Such is the book to which we would now direct the attention of our readers, and especially Christian parents and guardians who are solicitous for the moral welfare of their children and wards. This work contains a series of biographical sketches of the most distinguished men mentioned in the Sc iptures, from Adam to John the Baptiat, with a sketch of the human life of the Red-mer, and dissertations on the fulfilled prophecies, and other matters highly interesting to the Christian: the whole illustrated by about five hundred engravings, many of them beautifully executed It is handsomely bound in cleth and gilt, and sold at the low price of $2.50.

SEARS' WONDERS OF THE WORLD,

This is decidedly one of the most beautiful and interesting volumes, for Young Prople especially, ever issued from the American Press. We should like to give our readers a few extracts from it, with one or two of the numerous pictorial embellishments with which it is adorned; but we found we could not without doing great injustice to the whole work.—We will therefore recommend all who are in want of a work forest and suppose the present and values—one that will line and prove We will therefore recommend all who are in want of a work of permanent interest and value—one that will live and prove useful in the family circle, when the ephemeral trash of the day has passed away and is forgotten—to purchase these "Wonders" One of the Reviewers of this work, in a late New-York Paper, appropriately remarks: "The Ancients boasted of their Seven Wonders, but Mr. Sears's new and invaluable work will prove, that we Moderns, can boast of our Thousand Wonders."

The Each of the above works is beautifully printed and illustrated, and put up in richly ornamented bindings, highly great degree of perfection, and, in their various modifications, have adapted them to all the purposes for which heavy transactions are required by weight. In the mechanical construction, care is taken to secure STRENGTH, DURABILITY and ACCURACY—accuracy not merely as a specific point and to a given amount, but uniform accuracy at every angle of the Platform and throughout the entire range, from the lowest to the highest capacity of the Balance.

These Scales keep their adjustment perfectly, are never libile to derangement, and seldom to any expense for repair.—They are in use in most of the Raitroads in the United States, and in some of them they have been long in use, the operation being perfect. So also in the Dormant and Portable Scales for weighing merchandise. Merchants and others who have had them in constant use for a succession of years, testify to their uniform accuracy, and to the fact that they appear unaffected by wear. These Scales have also been patented in Engind, where they are excensively used, both in private warehouse where they are expensively used, both in private warehouse and public railways.
